It is quite a compliment to Mr. Jeffer son to say that he had a fair house last aght to witness his Rip Van Winkle, condering the number of times the play has been presented here by himself, Mc-Wade and one or two others. The play iself is pretty near played out in this ountry, and considering its lack of any great merit the only wonder is that it has t run out before this. We think that this season ought to put it on the retired st in the hands of an actor of less nerit than Mr. Jefferson it would have on that list long ago.

The object of common schools, supported by taxation of the general public, should be to give the pupils a good business education. WASHINGTON, September 1.—It is now the accepted policy of the Government to pay ten per cent of all salaries in standard ilver dollars. The President and every member of the Cabinet has signified a member of the Cabinet has signified a sillingness to take ten per cent in silver, although with the President it will be quite a burden, as one-tenth of his annual salary in silver will weigh over 300 pounds. The President says, however, that there should be no discrimination. This policy will dispose of silver as fast as coined, and put it at once into circulation.

The disbursements for August were larger than any previous month, amounting to nearly $1,900,000. Of this over one inition was paid out on salaries and checks.

Treasurer Giffillan has urged this policy for some time, and is gratified at the success of the experiment. Saturday he took fifty dollars of his salary in silver. He says it has to go here and elsewhere. Secretary Sherman says that members of Con-gress will hereafter be paid one-tenth in silver like other public servants.

This is a good movement. Since the passage of the silver dollar law a year ad a half ago the mints have produced apwards of forty millions of the new coin dead in the Treasury for the most The banks do not want it, the people do not want it, and even such lovers of cheap currency as Ben Wilson and Ben Martin do not want it. If about two millions of half dollars and quarters could be circulated in West Virginia in place of that amount of National bank notes, there would be an outery against the nobody hankers after it. The fact that an American dollar has not a dollar's worth of silver in it tends to keep it severely at ome. It ought to be reserved for the paymen. If foreign nations should undertake to settle their balances with us in silver at our standard, we would lose about 15 per cent by the operation.

Unusual Stir and Activity in the East New York, August 31.—New York has not been so full of visitors since the Centennial Exhibition year. There has been and mountain resorts of the East, and improving business has brought thousands from the West and South. To-day it is almost impossible to get a room in a first or second-class New York hotel. The cold snap of the first of the week drove the guests at Long Branch and Saratoga into the city, and very many who are getting back home from Eastern States are sojourning here for aday or two. The merchants, too, from far and near, are here looking for goods, and there hasn't been such a bustle and business air imparted to Broadway in a long time. Places of amusements are opening to very full audiences. In fact, things are looking up to a business point of view, and everybody seems happy. from the West and South. To-day i

Moreover, it looks as though the revival had come to stay.

There is but little said about candidates for other offices.

The platform, which will be reported to the Convention to-morrow, will endorse the President's vetoes and his firmness in resisting the action of Congress, a congratulatory on the resumption of specie payments, gives the Republican party credit for all the late constitutional amendments and maintains the right of the State to regulate corporations in the interest of the public.

The annual advent of Mr. Barnum's immense caravan is an event of no small interest in every large community in the country, north of Virginia. In 1873

"Barnum's Traveling World's Fair" drew crowds of curious sight-seers wherever it was exhibited. The Hippodrome of the year following will long be remembered as containing an almost endless variety of attractions, ranging from a race horse to a Roman chariot. He has since appeared from year to year with an ever changing exhibitionlof marvelonscuriosities, wonderful magicians, daring equestrian performers and numberless other attractions, until now he rightly claims to have eclipsed all his previous efforts in his "Greatest Show on Earth."

The New York Star says:

The Institute was crowded to its utmost capacity, and the succession of arenic exhibitions were never so skillfully executed or obtained such a responsive proof of popular appreciation. The introduction of the royal stallions Mameluke and Pasha by Carl Antony, was recognized in tones of vociferons admiration. The golden ta. Marble, Slate & Iron Mantels.
